Exploring
Aviation and Aerospace

FSANA AeroChaptersSM Youth Program

If you are in grades 6-12 and are interested in aviation, aerospace or flight, then youth membership in the Flight School Association of North America (FSANA) is for you. The great part of membership is being able to join other like-minded aviation enthusiasts at our local AeroChapters youth chapter. It is a unique learning opportunity set in a social context. There has been nothing like it before.

This is one of many FSANA-chartered youth chapters meeting around the country. FSANA is a membership-based association which works in alliance with the aviation and aerospace industry to provide programs and services intended to enhance the ability of the flight training industry to better serve their customers and communities.

As a business member of FSANA, we are privileged to host this chapter, provide chapter advisors, and help develop programs designed for the youth in our community. Chapter meetings are conducted at our business location.

Become a youth member of FSANA today and begin to explore the exciting world of aviation and aerospace.

Inside AeroChaptersSM

During our monthly chapter meetings and programs, youth explore the vast field of aviation and aerospace and are introduced to its numerous career paths. The participants in our chapter elect their own leadership and collectively plan what programs they would like to pursue throughout the year. Our chapter advisors and assistant chapter advisors are on hand to provide guidance and mentorship. As a result of their involvement, members will develop and enhance their leadership skills.

Learning what it takes to become a pilot only scratches the surface of what goes on. During chapter meetings and events, participants investigate the four core disciplines that help define aviation and aerospace—science, technology, engineering and math (STEM). The longer someone stays involved, the more they grow as an individual.

Additionally—through their FSANA membership—youth are given exclusive access to various insider news and career pathway developments that they will find fascinating and rewarding.
